Story of Charles Hartley's Fight for Life

FORMER RESIDENTS DEPT.: This story is worth reading. It is from the Jackson, Miss., Clarion-Ledger and concerns Charles Hartley, who is living although he was not supposed to.

Charles, a Mississippi college ministerial student, attended Dorrisville grade school and is a graduate of Harrisburg Township high school. His father is Charles Hartley and his uncle, the Rev. L. G. Hartley, was pastor of the Dorrisville Baptist church at one time.

His wife is the former Irma Jean Langford, who also went to Dorrisville grade school but who continued her education in Chicago. Grandparents are Mrs. Eva Burroughs of this city and Mrs. Nettie Langford of Harrisburg Route 3.

Hartley, a Navy man, was wounded March 30, 1945, on Iwo Jima, and the story in the Clarion-Ledger says:

"The doctor said he couldn't live — they said it four times — but Charles Hartley is alive and well today.

"They told him he would never eat again, but he does.

"Then they told him he would never talk again, but he does that too."

Here is what Charles himself says in the article:

"All that was pretty discouraging, and it's the most awful feeling to be lying on an operating table, so helpless, and knowing that nobody has any hope for you.

"I don't know why I was saved — maybe to show other people it's not necessary to give up."

Hartley, now 30 years old, lost his lower jaw, most of his throat, both his lower and upper lips and teeth, part of his tongue and most of his vocal apparatus when a burst of machine gun fire hit him as he started after a wounded man.

"There was a man down on the field," Hartley related. "He was shot in the back, and I had to go to him with a stretcher. I started. They told me afterward that at least 13 rounds from a machine gun hit me.

"It was the most peculiar thing; I didn't know I was hit, but all of a sudden I couldn't move. Then I put my hand up toward my face because I felt sweaty. There was nothing there, and when I looked at my hand it was bloody.

"I never did lose consciousness. They got me back to the field hospital and the first person to give me first aid was a Negro boy from my home town, Harrisburg, Ill. When he had done what he could, he said, 'I'll see you in Harrisburg,' but he had the most unconvincing look on his face." (Does anybody know the name of this person?)

Since that day in 1945, Hartley has had 24 operations and has learned to live again.

At Guam, the story relates, first one artery, then another, was tied off. Finally, all to the head were tied off.

Said Hartley about this: "I know they say a person can't live when that is done. I don't know myself whether this was one or not, but it is in my record that it was."

Now he has a new lower jaw, new teeth, new lips, new tongue and lower half of his face, a new throat and a repaired vocal box. Even now he has no taste buds, but he does eat by mouth.

The story tells of his efforts to learn to talk by practicing with nobody around. When he thought he could speak, he went to a telephone booth to place a call — a place where he could try out his voice in private. But the operator couldn't understand what he said. More months of practice followed. His first understandable words to somebody else were "I'm feeling pretty well today," to a doctor who was making his rounds.

Now he is a junior at Mississippi college and he hopes to get his Master's degree. He already has been licensed by a Baptist church. His wife, Irma, is on the educational staff at the Baptist hospital at Jackson. They have two children, Charma Lee, nearly six, and Mike, three.

His decision to be a minister did not come after the war experience. He was about 16 when he felt the call to preach, but with the war in full swing, he entered the Navy as soon as he was graduated from high school.

Three Sentenced for Theft of Copper Wire

Donald King, Louis Hayes and Toby Mullinix of Eldorado pleaded guilty to petit larceny charges when arraigned before County Judge Trafton Dennis yesterday and each was sentenced to 90-day terms in the Saline county jail. They admitted stealing copper wire from the Ande salvage yard at Eldorado.

Chances Fade To Expand Social Security Act

House Approves Bill, 372-31; See Senate Delay

By United Press

Chances faded further today for enactment this year of a House-approved bill to expand and liberalize the Social Security system.

The bill, approved 372-31 by the House Monday, would add about one million persons to those now receiving Social Security payments. It would increase payroll taxes Jan. 1.

The Senate Finance committee decided to start hearings on the bill Friday but did not indicate it would try for passage this year. Chairman Harry F. Byrd (D-Va.) said the committee would give "full consideration" to the measure.

With Congress shooting for adjournment by the end of next week, there appeared to be little likelihood of getting the bill through the Senate. Byrd noted that his committee has a number of other measures also awaiting action.

Other congressional news:

Caps: Harry Lev, millionaire capmaker to the government, told Senate investigators five weeks ago he never paid "one broken cent" to a federal employee to land a contract. At resumed hearings today former government clothing inspector Michael Weintraub testified Lev "tried many times to bribe me and called me filthy and profane names when I refused."

Highways: The House Public Works committee tentatively approved $12,400,000,000 in new taxes over 16 years to finance its proposed road-building program. The committee revamped a financing program it had approved earlier, making changes which would mean a net gain of 400 million dollars for the treasury.

Litters: William L. McGill, president of the National Association of Civil Defense directors, gave a House group what he called an "interesting example" of what sometimes happens when state Civil Defense groups buy emergency supplies. He said the federal government sold surplus litters to a dealer for $4 each and then helped the state of Connecticut buy 10,000 of them for $9.98 apiece.

Wages: Democratic and Republican leaders agreed the House will pass a bill increasing the federal minimum wage. The question was, by how much?

The House Labor committee Monday recommended a hike from the present 75-cent level to $1 an hour. But the administration wants a 90-cent figure, and some Republicans planned to fight for that level in today's debate.

Other Republicans were expected to offer a compromise plan under which the minimum would move first to 90 cents and then to $1 in a gradual, step-by-step process.

Polls among House members indicated the deciding vote would be fairly close with proponents of the $1 figure having a slight edge. The Senate already has approved a $1 level.

Howard Hughes Sells RKO-Radio

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Millionaire Howard Hughes sold RKO-Radio Pictures, Inc., Monday to the General Tire and Rubber Co. for $25 million dollars in cash in a deal believed to be the largest single financial transaction in the history of the motion picture industry.

An announcement said payment is due to be made by check on July 25. The transaction was believed to be one of the largest cash sales by an individual in the history of American finance.

The contract was signed by Hughes and Thomas J. O'Neill, vice president of the rubber company and president of General Tire-Rubber, Inc., and Mutual Broadcasting System, which are subsidiaries of General Tire and Rubber.

The studio will be taken over by General Tire-Radio. The new owner also will acquire control of about 400 old films and some new ones. It was believed they would be shown on the Mutual Television Network.

O'Neill said no immediate personnel changes were planned as a result of the change of ownership.

Two Arraigned for Possessing Still In Massac County

Two Massac county men charged with possession of an illicit still were arraigned yesterday before U. S. Commissioner W. W. Damron in Harrisburg and taken on to St. Louis.

Upon arraignment the men waived preliminary hearing and bond was set at $5,000 each by Damron. The two were arrested after internal revenue agents Eugene Healey, John Gorton, John Williams and Norman Moush and Deputy Sheriff Dwight Mann of Massac county found the still in a wooded area near Unionville in Massac county. The cooker was of 150-gallon capacity and there were 30 barrels of mash.

They were brought here by U. S. Marshal Vernon Wood of Metropolis and taken on to the St. Louis city jail following their arraignment.

Boy Killed When Wagon Load of Oats Overturns on Him

ALLENDORF, Iowa (AP)—Eleven-year-old Walter Peterson of Sibley, Iowa, was killed Monday night when a wagon load of oats overturned on him on a county road southeast of Allendorf. Authorities said Walter was riding on the newly-combined oats as it was being pulled behind a tractor driven by 13-year-old Larry Lutson. The wagon overturned when the tractor went out of control.

Local Firms are Low Bidders On Junior High

Run 10 Per Cent Higher Than Available Funds

Four Saline county firms were low bidders on reconstructing the old Harrisburg Junior High school building, destroyed by fire January 1, but the bids totaled more than available funds.

Bids were opened Monday night at the Junior High school.

An attempt will be made by the District 43 school board to reduce the total cost by negotiation. If this is unsuccessful, the size of the structure will have to be reduced and new bids received.

Low bid on the general contract was by Midland Construction Co. of Harrisburg. This bid was for $197,960, with a net bid of $192,510 if all alternate proposals are omitted.

Other net bids for general construction included Beardon Construction Co., Marion, $208,830; H. E. Mitchell & Son of Harrisburg, $217,540, and Powell and Beltz of Centralia, $227,075.

Other Bids
Low bid on the electrical work was Sutton Electric Co. of Eldorado, with a gross bid of $28,000, and a net bid of $24,970 after deducting alternates.

Other gross bids were from Harrisburg Electric of Harrisburg at $27,313 and Ford Electric of Harrisburg at $27,933.

Heister's of Harrisburg was low on heating and ventilating with a bid of $35,352. Other bids included Frick of Marion at $36,275, LeTemp of Harrisburg at $36,428, and Sutton of Eldorado at $42,125.

Low bid on plumbing and sewer work was $15,300 by LeTemp of Harrisburg. Other bids included $15,492 by Fred N. Russler of Harrisburg, $19,760 by Heister of Harrisburg, $19,518 by Sutton of Eldorado, and $20,845 by Frick of Marion.

Duty of Marion had a combination plumbing, sewer and heating bid of $53,400.

10 Per Cent Above Funds
Total bids, after deducting alternates, was $268,142. This is about ten per cent above the amount available for the construction.

Funds for the reconstruction are from insurance on the old building and from the proceeds of a supplementary bond issue of $87,500.

Plans for the reconstruction provided for a fireproof building, utilizing most of the walls and footings of the old building, with the same general architectural lines. The auditorium would run from west to east instead of north to south as previously, the old gymnasium would be eliminated, but there would be a girls' physical education room.

The Broyles bill will require all state employees and public school teachers to take an oath that they are not members of the Communist Party or any organization advocating overthrow of the state or federal governments by force or unlawful means.

It bans the spending of any appropriation to pay the salaries of a subversive employee of the state or any political subdivision, but cities, villages, incorporated towns, townships and counties are excluded from the bill.

Six Year Effort
The new loyalty oath is the climax of six years of efforts by Sen. Paul W. Broyles (R-Mount Vernon) to put added anti-subversive legislation in the statute books. Broyles had gradually limited the scope of the legislation from the sweeping investigative and regulatory powers he first sought.

The governor said he did not "see any objections" on the part of anyone to taking the oath. He said candidates for office now take similar oaths and "we're just about the only state of any size that doesn't have such a law."

But in Chicago, Kenneth Douthy, executive director of the Illinois chapter of the American Civil Liberties Union, said:

"It is ironic indeed that Illinois in the same year makes 'Land of Lincoln' the state motto and puts on its statute books a law contrary to all the principles of faith and confidence for which the Great Emancipator gave his very life."

The series of 34 bills creating a new state personnel code to be administered by a department of personnel will consolidate all personnel procurement and processing for agencies under the governor.

The new personnel code will not take effect until July 1, 1957, but provides for setting up the administration in the meantime. The governor, who praised the code, said he will start this organization in a couple of months by naming a professional director and assistant director to head the new department.

He said the new code would let civil service employees "know what they can do and what they can't do" in the field of politics and will produce "better working conditions" and better employees.

The governor vetoed bills for regulation and licensing of all boats on Illinois-controlled waters and for enforcement of grading standards on fruits and vegetables. He said both plans were "far too broad" and would give the state departments too much power.

Stratton said he will start filling vacancies and naming members of new boards and commissions when he returns from a 10-day vacation starting Friday. He will leave from the fair at Martinsville to vacation in New England. He will be the host at the governors' conference at Chicago Aug. 9-12.

Stratton Announces New Veto Record; Only 25 Bills Remain

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—Gov. William G. Stratton, after signing the Broyles loyalty oath bill and a series of personnel code measures, today had cut to 25 the number of bills he still must act on.

The governor Monday held a news conference to discuss his legislative action. He announced he had set a new veto record, vetoing 186 bills in full and five others in part. That topped by 51 the previous record for vetoes he set in 1953.

The governor said the vetoes had "directly" killed appropriations totaling $22,195,200 and had saved "millions more" in "tremendous expenses" for state and local governments.

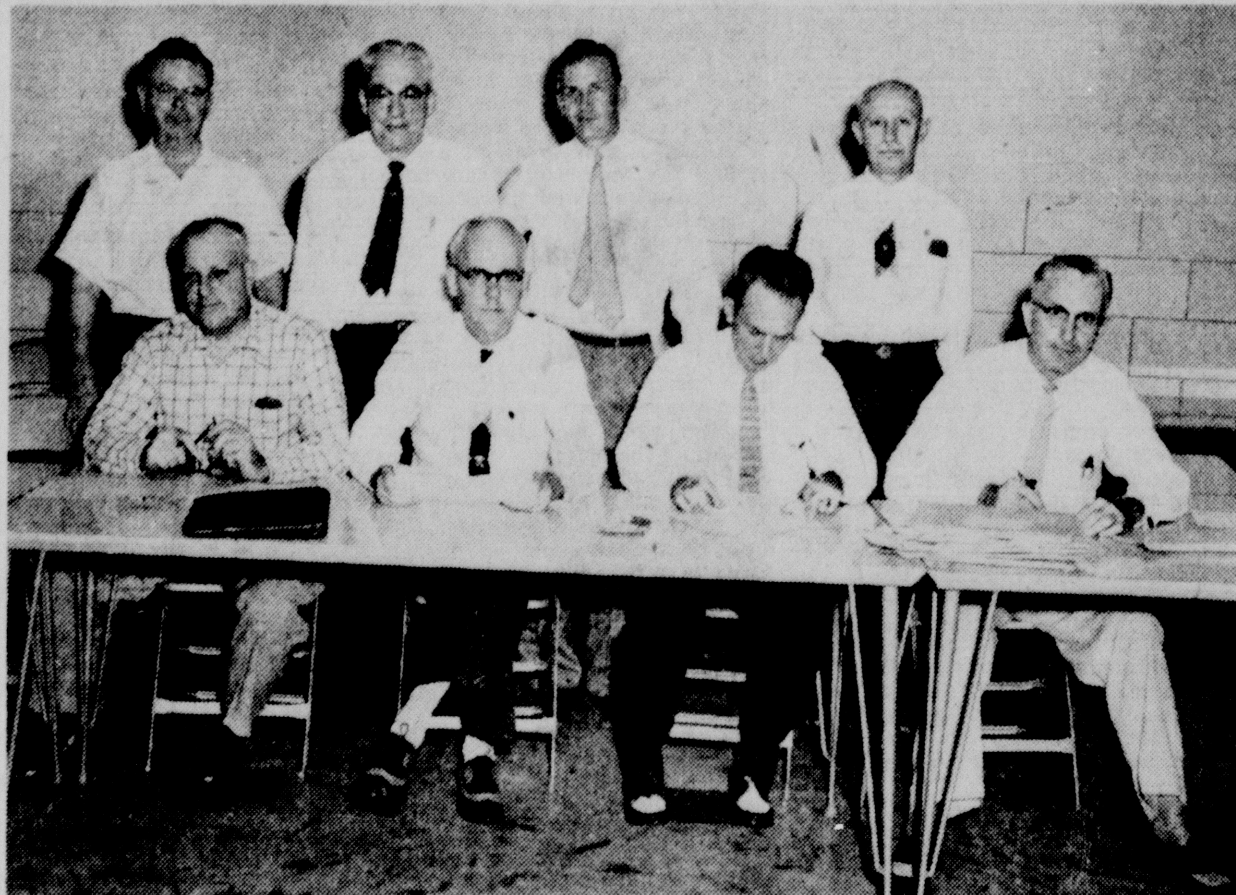

The Broyles bill will require all state employees and public school teachers to take an oath that they are not members of the Communist Party or any organization advocating overthrow of the state or federal governments by force or unlawful means.

Russia Pledges to Try to Prevent Plane Incidents

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Russians have followed up their recent offer to pay half the damages in the shooting down of an American plane with a pledge to try to prevent future plane incidents.

Informed sources said the pledge was contained in a note which Russian Charge d'Affaires Sergei R. Stringanov delivered Monday to Acting Secretary of State Herbert Hoover Jr. It concerned the downing of a U. S. Navy plane by Soviet aircraft over the Bering Sea June 23.

The Russian note also expressed the belief that the United States will take similar preventive steps.

The two nations thus virtually closed — in friendly fashion — the latest incident involving U. S.-Russian military planes.

Assurance is Given Bulganin At Big 4 Talks

Reunification of Germany Given Top Priority

GENEVA (AP)—President Eisenhower today told Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin that the United States never would wage an aggressive war against any nation.

The American chief executive gave the Soviet leader that assurance in the course of today's first shirt-sleeve working session of the Big Four summit conference.

Mr. Eisenhower repeatedly assured the Russian delegation that the Soviet Union has nothing to fear from German reunification, so far as the United States is concerned.

He also appealed directly to his World War II ally and comrade, Soviet Defense Minister Georgi Zhukov, for a more tolerant Russian attitude toward the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) in the interest of speeding German reunification.

The session was devoted to German reunification, which was given top priority on the agenda.

Appeals to Zhukov
The American President appealed directly to Zhukov to obtain Russian acceptance of NATO as an instrument of real peace.

Bulganin Monday had outlined a Soviet plan for European security which would require the west to scuttle NATO, the key to West Europe's defense, in exchange for abandonment by the Communists of the alliance of Russia's East European satellites.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY
We came unto the land which

But the wealth of Canaan was nothing compared with the heri-

the problem is how to dispose of Government and Debt

Editorial By Bruce Bissot
Next to a cozy fire on a cold winter's night, a congressman finds nothing so comforting as the prospect he will be able to offer the voters a tax cut in an election year.
But that prospect is growing dim
for 1956.

The matter came up not long ago when Secretary of the Treasury George Humphrey was testifying before a committee on extending for another year the temporary 281 billion dollar federal debt ceiling. He indicated that if the debt could be pushed no higher, proposed tax reductions for 1956 are doubtful.

The secretary said that with the present outlook for intake and out-
go of federal revenues, the government would be lucky to scrape by
while staying within the limit.
Lawmakers like Senator Byrd of Virginia believe that a tight ceiling
is one way to compel government economies. The permanent limit is 275 billion dollars and Congress
is reluctant to authorize a higher
one—except temporarily.

The only trouble is that Congress
itself goes on voting liberal sums of money for a great many federal projects, some quite dear to the lawmakers' hearts. They have shown no real disposition to take the responsibility for savings, but rather have passed the buck to the executive branch.

What they say in effect is: "You fellows in government must save enough to keep within the debt limit. Don't ask US how. You figure it out."
The result, of course, is that often cuts have to be made which go to the core of useful federal services, while Congress takes credit
for seeming to have maintained
them at adequate levels.

As a matter of practice, too, the current, temporary increase in the debt ceiling is so modest that it has forced the Treasury to undertake a number of makeshift devices, some of which might look strange for a small country bank.

The Congress is trying to have its cake and eat it, too. It wants to go before the country as a body
of economy-minded members who never forget their friends. Sometimes that's a hard combination to realize.

The issue of taxes in 1956 may
end the game in its present form.
If any marked reductions were to be voted at the same time new borrowings were limited by the 281 billion dollar debt ceiling, the government would really be up against it.

The alternatives then would be either that the government would go broke or would begin slashing
deeply into home and muscles.

The year 1956 looks like a tough year for politicians. They may have to offer the voters the barest token of a tax gift. Such modest giving is undoubtedly against their union rules. But sometimes the realities intrude harshly on even
the best-made rules.

The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND by DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says:
Will Russians Reverse Sweetness-And-Light Policy—What's Behind It? Soviet Leaders
Make Amazingly Frank Statements Re Russian Weaknesses Military Might Is Russia's Strength.

GENEVA — The most important question on everyone's mind in Geneva is whether the new sweetness and light exuded by the Russians is here to stay and what is behind it. Will it be reversed in a day, a week or a year?

Secretary Dulles has told senators it's because Russia is now weak. President Eisenhower has said that, on the contrary, Russia is strong. Frankly, nobody knows the answer. Yet the answer is all-important if any agreements made
at Geneva are to be worth the ink
they're signed with.

European diplomats of long experience with whom I have talked
come nearest to giving an answer.
Namely, that while Russia is strong militarily, she is weak politically and economically; also,
finally has discovered she may have a treacherous friend in the form of Red China.

It's long been known that the Kremlin wasn't happy about the boisterous boys who have been running Communist China. But on top of this, party leader Khrushchev made a trip to China last fall,
where the Red Chinese made some economic demands which Russia couldn't possibly fill, and also made Khrushchev realize that the day might come when China's 600,000,000 people might turn against Russia's 200,000,000. At such a time Russia will need friends.

RUSSIA'S WEAKNESSES
Khrushchev has found that Russia is in no position to risk a war or stand up in any tough way
against the West, despite its amazing progress in planes and guided missiles.

European diplomats have made
a careful study of Russian weaknesses, and perhaps the best answer to the Kremlin's diplomatic strength or lack of it is to look at the results of that study.

Amazing Frankness — Here is part of it, taken from the amazingly frank statements of Soviet leaders themselves. "Some party leaders have acquired the habit
of talking only about successes.
They avoid discussions of shortcomings and difficulties," opined
the blunt new boss of Soviet Russia, Nikita Khrushchev, in a three-hour harangue before the Communist Party's central committee
on Jan. 25, 1955. "It is necessary," he continued, "to cut down
the impermissibly great losses of grain during the harvest. It is completely intolerable that delays
in harvesting on many collective farms have resulted in losses of up to a quarter of the standing crop—
and sometimes more." "Many officials go no further than making speeches and drafting resolutions on fodder and do not organize a resolute struggle to increase the fodder production," continued Communist Secretary Khrushchev.

Cows Must Have Udders —
"What is the situation in regard to the construction of silos and silo
age pits?" he asked the assembled Communist conclave. "Very bad,"
he answered his own question.
"There have been cases of the machine and tractor station mowing
the grass on collective farms, reporting fulfillment of the haying
plan with MTS workers even receiving bonuses for this, while the grass on collective farms, remained unharvested because it was not raked or stacked."

"If your name is a cow," proclaimed
the baldheaded Khrushchev, quoting the poet Mayakovsky, "you must give milk and have an udder.
If you have neither milk nor an udder, to the devil with your name." And Khrushchev went on to quote figures showing that the Soviet cow population had dropped half a million between 1928 and 1952, while the beef cattle had been reduced by 2,200,000. . . . He did not

Rockwell Receives Highest Degree in York Rite Masonry

Curtis E. Smith of Benton and Charles Lendall Rockwell of Raleigh have been awarded the designation of Knight of the York Cross of Honour. It was reported today. This honorary degree, highest in the York Rite of Freemasonry, is conferred only on those who have held the highest office in each of the four bodies of the rite.
Mr. Smith becomes the 5,586th.
Mr. Rockwell 5,594th, to have received this award in the past 26
years in North America, although there are nearly four million members of the fraternity.

Mr. Smith was Master of Benton
Lodge of Masons, in 1933; High Priest of W. R. Ward chapter, Royal Arch Masons, in 1933, 1947, 1948;
Master of Egyptian Council, Royal
and Select Masters, in 1954-55; Commander of St. Bernard Commandery, Knights Templar, in 1953-54.

Mr. Rockwell was Master of Raleigh Lodge of Masons, in 1943;
High Priest of Saline chapter, Royal Arch Masons, in 1954; Master of

Harrisburg Commandery, Knights
Templar, in 1954-55.

They were elected to membership in Illinois Priory and their election confirmed by the Convent General of the order on July 3. A certificate of membership has been mailed to them.

der in North America with a present membership of 4,500.

ment, of course, the reason why
—namely, that Russian peasants,
called upon to sell their livestock
to the state, butchered and ate it instead.

Housing And Plumbing — Soviet leaders have been equally frank about other difficulties. "Officials of the building industry,"
said the same baldheaded blunt-
speaking Khrushchev, "have no reason to give themselves airs.
They should learn something from our friends in Czechoslovakia.
Certain comrades learn little from others, and what is most important, they don't want to learn."

"I visited a new hotel at Sverdlovsk. The bathrooms had been very badly built and the standard of decorative work was not high.
 Pipes in the sanitation unit were covered with rust. The joints between the pipes had been very badly made and I, as a former steamfitter, was extremely indignant."

"The machine-building industry fell short of quotas on sewing machines, watches, bicycles and metal bedsteads," wrote Pravda, Feb. 26, 1954. "The food
ministry failed to provide the required amounts of fish, meat, butter, macaroni and potatoes. . . .
And even in the sanitation unit were used the most primitive and bureaucratic methods in management of enterprises."

Black Marketing — Soviet unrest results partly from shortages in consumer goods. They are so scarce they are sold on the black market. "To check illegal trade practices and black market-
eering in consumer goods," wrote Pravda, Jan. 28, 1955, "the Georgian Communist party has discharged the chiefs of the bread
and grocery chains in the Georgian Soviet Republic."

Among the
items listed as sold on the black market are shoes, sweaters, furniture, spirits, radios, cars, cloth,
farm products, coats, enamelware,
furs and movie-theatre tickets.

Khrushchev's Big Risk — It was to relieve food shortages that party leader Khrushchev launched his big collective farm program. Sending thousands of tractors to central Russia, plus office workers and city slickers, who knew little about farming, Khrushchev decided to get food production—or else.

To some extent he succeeded.
But what he couldn't control was
the weather and the natural desire of every farmer whether in Iowa or Kazakhstan to work for himself.

glected her consumer goods in or-

Stratton Signs Bills
To Create New Dep't of Personnel

SPRINGFIELD — Gov. William G. Stratton today signed into law a series of 32 bills creating the new Department of Personnel
to supervise all state employment
duties under the governor.

The new department will not assume the personnel administration
duties until July 1, 1957.
House Speaker Warren L. Wood (R-Plainfield) said the code would consolidate the confusing and inefficient procurement and processing
of state employees scattered among various agencies.

Governor Signs Bill to Increase Truck Lengths

SPRINGFIELD — Gov. William G. Stratton today stood behind his signing of a bill to increase maximum overall truck lengths from 45 to 50 feet as a recommendation of the American Association of State Highway Officials.

Stratton announced his signing
of the bill, which was attacked in the Legislature as a concession to big truckers and a detriment to highway safety, Monday.

The highway officials group recommends the 50-foot length as part of a national uniform code, the governor said.

He said 29 states and the District of Columbia permit a 50-foot length, while 12 other states have no limitation. Only four states have a limit of less than 50 feet,
Stratton said.

The governor also signed a measure to require justices of the peace
to file monthly reports with the state's attorney, who will also be the reviewing officer of the reports.

Previously, the justices made only annual reports to the state's attorney and the reports were reviewed by county judges.

Other bills signed will:
Provide for annexation of territory to cities and villages upon petition of owners of more than 50 per cent of the land to be an-nexed, with provisions for landowners on the periphery of this territory to be excluded.

Make it a misdemeanor to take payment as an agent without authorization of the person to whom the payment is owed.

The governor vetoed bills which would have:
Granted motorcoter operating permits to qualified drivers 14
years of age or older.

Revised the duties of coroners
and the requirements for action in certain kinds of deaths.

Put Civil Defense workers under workmen's compensation insurance.

Required reimbursement of any
expense of a state employee ordered transferred to a new location and given the employee the right of appeal on grounds the transfer would not improve state service.

The car came to a full stop. She heard him turn off the ignition and open his door and step out, then he swung the half of the front seat
forward away from her, and she knew he must be standing there
looking in to see if she had recovered consciousness yet.

She kept her eyes closed and tried to make all her muscles limp
as she supposed an unconscious person would be.

She felt his hands on her shoulders lifting and pulling her roughly out, and she moaned faintly and fluttered her eyelids as convincingly as she could, staggering on the ground as he held her upright when she was out of the car, letting her eyes open wide as though she had
just recovered consciousness,
shrinking away from him and crying pitifully.

"Where am I? What happened?
My head hurts dreadfully. Who are you? I never saw you before."
"Never mind who I am." He shook her roughly and shoved her back against the car. "You're Lucy Hamilton. Mike Shayne's secretary."

There was only one house visible. A large, three-story mansion on the right, built directly on the bluff overlooking the bay.
There were no lights and the front windows were boarded up with wooden shutters the way many winter residents leave their homes
during the summer and the early autumn hurricane season.

He laughed evilly as he saw her looking around in an attempt to orient herself, and said in his gratifying southern voice, "Take yourself a good look. Ma'am. Then start screaming your fool head off if you're a mind to. Won't nobody hear you. Won't nobody ever come down this here dead-end street."

"Who are you? Lucy demanded again. "What do you want with me?"
"Nothing particular with you,
Ma'am. I thought back yonder
at the morgue maybe you'd recognize me, but if you do or don't
it don't make no never mind to me
now. All I want is that money
from your smart red-headed boss.
The money Jack Bristow gave to you or him tonight. That's all I want, Ma'am. And I sure intend to get it one way or another."

As he spoke he lowered the beam
so it shone on a female figure bundled up with ropes on the ground near the wall. Her mouth was plastered tightly shut with surgeon's tape, and her face was white and haggard and desperate
in the flashlight's gleam, but Lucy

"We haven't got it," she protested weakly. "Jack didn't have any money. Or, at least we didn't see it."

He shrugged and caught her upper arm to lead her away from the car toward the empty and deserted house. "Maybe Mister Shayne lied to you. I dunno. Maybe you lied to him. It don't matter much. He's sort of sweet on you,
huh?"

"No, he isn't," she said defiant-
ly. "Don't think you can put pressure on Mike Shayne through me.
You can't."

"Maybe not. It sure can't hurt to try." He was half-dragging,
half-supporting her around the side
of the house that faced toward the bay.

Lucy hesitated. There was no place to run to. No use shrieking
for help, as he had pointed out.
While she hesitated, he caught her roughly and shoved her half over the windowsill, snarling, "Get
on inside."

She pulled herself over onto the floor with the beam of his flashlight on her.

It was a library or study, she guessed, seeing the furniture with dust covers in the flickering light,
but he seemed to know exactly where he was going, seizing her arm and leading her to an open door into a corridor, and down a passage to another door at the rear
which opened onto a flight of wooden steps leading downward.

When they reached the bottom,
he flashed the beam of his light
around all four sides to show there were no windows, no other opening or means of egress except up
the stairs.

"Just so you'll know for sure how things stand, Ma'am. You're gonna sit down and write a little note to your boss telling him just exactly how things are with you,
and then I'm going to tie you up tight and leave you here to rot with your friend I mentioned."

The IPAC also announced food allowances would be increased slightly with August grants in Woodford county. Prices there have increased by 3 per cent or more as shown by an IPAC survey, requiring comparable increases in aid payments.

Devine-Zimmer Marriage Solemnized in Ceremony at Fort Madison, Iowa

Mr. and Mrs. William A. Zimmer

A double ring marriage ceremony read Saturday morning, June 25, at nine o'clock, in the Sacred Heart Catholic church in Fort Madison, Iowa, by the Rev. E. P. Seidel united Miss Nora Ann Devine and William A. Zimmer.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Devine of Ft. Madison and Mr. and Mrs. William A. Zimmer, Harrisburg, are the parents of the bridegroom.

Larry Persinger, Ronald Garry and Dick Bartlett, cousins of the bride, were altar boys. Miss Donna Fox, Ottawa, was the maid of honor, and Miss Marilyn Dunn, Ottawia, Miss Katherine Korda, Crystal Lake, and Miss Marjorie Zimmer, sister of the bridegroom, were bridesmaids. Joyce Pezley was flower girl. Eddie Devine, brother of the bride, was ring bearer. Daniel McBride, Burlington, Iowa, was best man and ushers were William Cady, Peoria, and Anthony Panecak and James Stanczak, Chicago.

White gladioli, blue majette daisies and pink carnations were altar decorations.

The children's choir sang the High Mass. Sister Bernardo at the organ played nuptial marches and accompanied the soloist, Miss Terry Henry, Belleville, who sang "Ave Maria" at the offertory, "Panis Angelicus" at communion, and "On This Day" as the bride placed a bouquet on the altar of the Blessed Virgin.

Mr. Devine gave his daughter in marriage. Her floorlength gown was of Chantilly lace and nylon tulle over satin. Scalloped satin scroll edged the silk illusion deep yoke of the molded bodice. The Peter Pan collar was pearl edged and satin buttons closed the wrists of the tapered sleeves and bodice back. Large medallions of lace linked with soutache braid scrolls adorned the bouffant tulle skirt, worn with hoops and crinolines. A princess crown of pearl trimmed scalloped lace secured the Chantilly lace trimmed veil of silk illusion. The bride carried white carnations and stephanotis accented with net tuffs and ribbon streamers.

Her attendants were identically attired in collision blue gowns of crystalite. Fan pleating edged the portrait necklines and the tight bodices had bracelet length sleeves. Side effects of fan pleating trimmed the bouffant skirts of ballerina length. They wore blue lace picture hats and blue slippers. Miss Fox carried a cascade of pink carnations and the bridesmaids carried nosegays of the blooms.

Frocked in blue, the flower girl carried a blue lace basket of pink carnations and white pom-pom chrysanthemums. The ring bearer wore a white suit with a delphinium boutonniere. The rings were on a white satin pillow.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Devine selected blue lace with white accessories and a corsage of pink roses. Mrs. Zimmer, mother of the bridegroom, chose pink lace with matching accessories and red roses.

A dinner was served at noon in the Sacred Heart hall where 200 attended the afternoon reception. Blue and white predominated in the floral decorations. The three tiered wedding cake was surmounted by a miniature bride and groom. Assisting were Miss Nancy Grimm, Miss Janet Mullina, Miss Sally Tully, Peoria, Miss Coleen Cooper and Miss Audreen Cooper. Miss Evelyn Walz, Peoria, had charge of the guest book.

The bride, a Fort Madison Catholic Central high school graduate, will be graduated in August by the St. Francis School of Nursing in Peoria. The bridegroom, discharged from military service on May 31, received a BS degree in physical education at Bradley university, Peoria, where he affiliated with Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity. He is a professional athlete with the San Francisco 49ers and reported for football practice in San Francisco July 10.

For the wedding trip Mrs. Zimmer wore a printed linen suit with a brown linen jacket and beige accessories.

Among the out of town wedding guests present were Mrs. Andrew Debes, grandmother of the bridegroom, Harrisburg, Edward Mc-

Rev. Mormon Lists Steps On 'How to Be Poor Parent'

"How To Be A Poor Parent" was the subject of a talk by Rev. Joe Mormon, pastor of the First Baptist church, at Monday night's meeting of the Harrisburg Lions club.

"Neglect" was the general theme of the talk and the following points were listed for those wishing to be a poor parent:

1. Have no time to play with the children.
2. Turn the task of entertaining children completely over to TV.
3. Be a nervous wreck and "blow your top" every afternoon when returning from the day's work.
4. Be the "bronze statue" type of parent, showing no emotion or response to any request from the children.
5. Refer to all the children's questions as "silly."
6. Have no church in your life. Take the kids to Sunday school, but take no part yourself.
7. Refuse to choose for your children, but allow them to read any type literature, attend any type movie, watch any type TV program and listen to any type radio program they wish.

"If you follow the points suggested, you will surely be a poor parent," Rev. Mormon declared in closing.

Former Policeman Claims Wife Was Killed Accidentally

SEBRING, Fla. — A former Miami policeman charged with murdering his wife said today he accidentally killed her with an overexerted "judo" hold he learned in police training.

State Atty. Gunter Stephenson said Thomas Mann Jr., was charged with first degree murder after he led authorities to a shallow grave which yielded the decomposing body of an attractive young blonde.

Britain, Sicily, Hong Kong Hit By Heavy Rains

LONDON — Flash floods forced thousands from their homes in Britain and Sicily today after heavy rains washed away Europe's two-week heat wave.

England's channel coast caught a sudden downpour that ripped out telephone lines, flooded homes and fields and ruined crops. Troops were sent in to speed evacuation.

The Mediterranean island of Sicily caught similar storms. In Messina more than 1,500 were homeless.

With Monday night's rains, however, came cooler temperatures that ended a sunny siege which claimed more than 400 lives throughout Europe.

HONG KONG — Five persons were killed and nine seriously injured in some 50 landslides caused by torrential rains Monday. All Hong Kong reservoirs overflowed and sections of the roads leading to the new territories were blocked by debris. The government said it would take several days to clear all the debris.

Fluoridation of Chicago Water Supply Ordered by Daley

CHICAGO (UP) — Mayor Richard Daley apparently ended a long time controversy Monday when he ordered action to proceed for the fluoridation of the city water supply.

Gov. William G. Stratton vetoed legislation calling for a referendum on a decision to fluoridate the water supply. This left the issue up to the city government.

A policy decision was referred to Daley last week and it was on this that he ruled. He ordered action to proceed on contracts totaling $150,000 for an initial supply of 5,000 tons of fluoride which will be added to the water to reduce tooth decay.

The program also will affect 51 suburbs that purchase Lake Michigan water from Chicago.

Youth, 16, Shot While Practicing 'Quick Draw'

BELLEVILLE, Ill. (UP) — Louis Knickerbocker, 16, Garden City, Mich., shot himself in the right leg in practicing a "quick draw" with a .45 caliber automatic pistol. The youth, who was visiting an uncle, Carl Pike, about four miles north of here, was reported in serious condition at St. Elizabeth Hospital. The gun went off as he pulled it from his belt holster.

Dejected Grimm Sees Little Chance of Catching Dodgers As Braves Lose to Giants

By United Press
A thoroughly dejected Charley Grimm found only one straw to clutch at today when he evaluated his Milwaukee Braves' chances of overtaking the Brooklyn Dodgers in the National League pennant race.

"I managed the Chicago Cubs in 1935 when they won 21 straight games to close out the season," Grimm said after the Braves' disheartening 6-5 loss to the New York Giants Monday night. "That's the only way I can figure it now—you're only out when they count '10' over you."

Grimm, who was under fire himself for his third-base coaching in Monday night's sloppy scramble of so-called contenders, pondered a moment and then added: "If we were right, we'd have swept the series with the Giants."

As it was, the split of the four-game series left both teams without a reasonable argument for believing they could catch the Dodgers—who, incidentally, bowed to the Cincinnati Redlegs, 9-5, Monday night.

Cubs' Losses Mount
To make matters even more rocky for the Dodgers, the pseudo-contender Cubs' losing streak mounted to eight straight games when they were defeated, 8-6 and 2-1, by the Philadelphia Phillies. The first game was the completion of Sunday's suspended contest in which the Cubs led, 5-4, in the sixth while the second was a regularly scheduled contest in which Herman Wehmeier out-duelued Warren Hacker, 2-1.

Center-fielder Bill Bruton's miff of Willie Mays' 410-foot fly with two out in the seventh inning permitted Alvin Dark and Whitey Lockman to score with two unearned runs that gave the Giants Monday night's victory. Don Liddle received credit for his third win while Warren Spahn suffered his 10th loss.

Grimm's Milwaukee's third-base coach, was under fire for failing to send Del Crandall, who had tripled, in to the plate in the top of the seventh when Spahn fired to Mays for the first out. Grimm held up Crandall and Mays' throw was far off the plate although very strong.

Bruton followed with a shorter fly to Mays and Willie cut down Crandall at the plate with a one-bounce throw to catcher Wes Westrum.

Joe Black, former Dodger, received credit for his fourth victory for Cincinnati behind an attack that included two homers by Stan Palys and No. 20 of the year by Ted Kluszewski. Karl Spooner yielded five runs and seven hits in four and a third innings to lose his fourth game.

Pinch-hitter Glen Gorbous' three-run homer enabled the Phillies to rally for five runs and win their suspended game with the Cubs and Roy Smalley's two-run fifth-inning homer against his former teammates provided all the runs Wehmeier required to notch his seventh triumph. The Phils have won five straight.

N. L. castoff Jim Wilson turned in his fourth shutout of the season—a two-hitter—as the Baltimore Orioles snapped the Chicago White Sox's seven-game winning streak with a 3-0 decision. Gus Triandos hit a two-run homer in the first inning and Hal Smith doubled home the third run in the eighth. Wilson now has a 7-9 record for the Orioles.

Roy Sievers' 13th and 14th homers of the season paced the Washington Senators to a 6-3 triumph over the Kansas City Athletics in the only other major league game played. Ted Abernathy was the winner and Cloyd Boyer the loser.

Pro Grid Prospects IN THE Sport Parade

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Don't look now but football is with us, the pro variety, anyhow, and when the weather chills off the teams they'll have to beat in the National League are the Los Angeles Rams and the Cleveland Browns.

That's the word this scorching day from Jack Lavelle, scouting impresario of the New York Giants. And if you think it's a bit premature, consider that four of the pro eleven already are in training and Lavelle's hopefuls start Wednesday.

You can blame it on the heat that rotund Jack, the perennial Notre Damer, doesn't claim the pro title outright for the Giants.

But his rundown on the teams is downright interesting if you are a devotee of (A) pro football or (B) the cooler weather in which it is supposed to be played. Here it is:

Western Division
Los Angeles Rams: Could have won last year but for injuries. Have the stuff with a power squad led by Norm van Brocklin, Billy Wade, and Tom Fears. Sid Gillman heads a new good coaching staff.

Chicago Bears: The dark horse. The line is like those Bear stalwarts of old. Bobby Williams should solve the quarterback puzzle and if so, they've got everything.

Detroit Lions: Several promising changes. Bobby Lane is back with help expected from Harry Gilmer in the Lions' style of attack.

San Francisco Forty-Niners: Will be rugged under new Coach Red Strader and with the best backfield in the business, headed by Hugh McElhenny, Joe (Jet) Perry, and Y. A. Tittle.

Green Bay Packers: On their way up under Lisle Blackburn. But the kids need maturing in a tough league.

Baltimore Colts: Improved, but how much? Obtained Alan (The Horse) Ameche, but it isn't enough with 10 games against the aforementioned Murderers' Row.

Eastern Division
Cleveland Browns: The champs improved with young draft choices. The word around in the league is that "retired" Otto Graham will be back.

New York Giants: A "chance." Joe Heap of Notre Dame can help but the real hope is Mel Triplett, an unknown fullback from little Toledo.

Philadelphia Eagles: Solid and sound but the quarterbacking is spotty. They probably won't make it.

Washington Redskins: Given a chance to come back. The line is solid but they may have too many quarterbacks (including it is presumed, owner G. P. Marshall).

Chicago Cardinals: Their problem is quarterbacking. If that develops, watch Ollie Matson and Max Boydston.

Pittsburgh Steelers: Lots of problems. Lost several good linemen, including great center Bill Walsh. Not much hope.

Now, like all of us, the only thing they all need is cooler weather.

Stars Defeat Henderson, 6-5, For 6th Victory

The Harrisburg Stars picked up their sixth win of the season, downing Henderson, Ky., 6-5, in a game played Sunday at the town park diamond. The Stars now hold a 6-6 record.

Don Wallace, young right hander, went the distance for the Stars, giving up five runs on 11 hits, three walks and striking out seven. Bledig was his receiver.

Ward handled the pitching chores for Henderson, giving up six runs on nine hits, four walks, one hit batsman and striking out five. Bledig of the Stars led both clubs at bat with a triple, double and single in four tries.

Henderson scored one run in the first on three hits and a base on balls. The Stars went ahead in their half of the first when Ziegler walked and Shewmake chased him home with a high-towering home run into the centerfield lagoon.

The visitors tied the count in the second with two base hits. But the Stars counted again in their half on a double by Harrison and a triple by Bledig. Henderson scored twice in the third on two hits and a walk and the Stars again tied the game in the fourth with two hits and a walk.

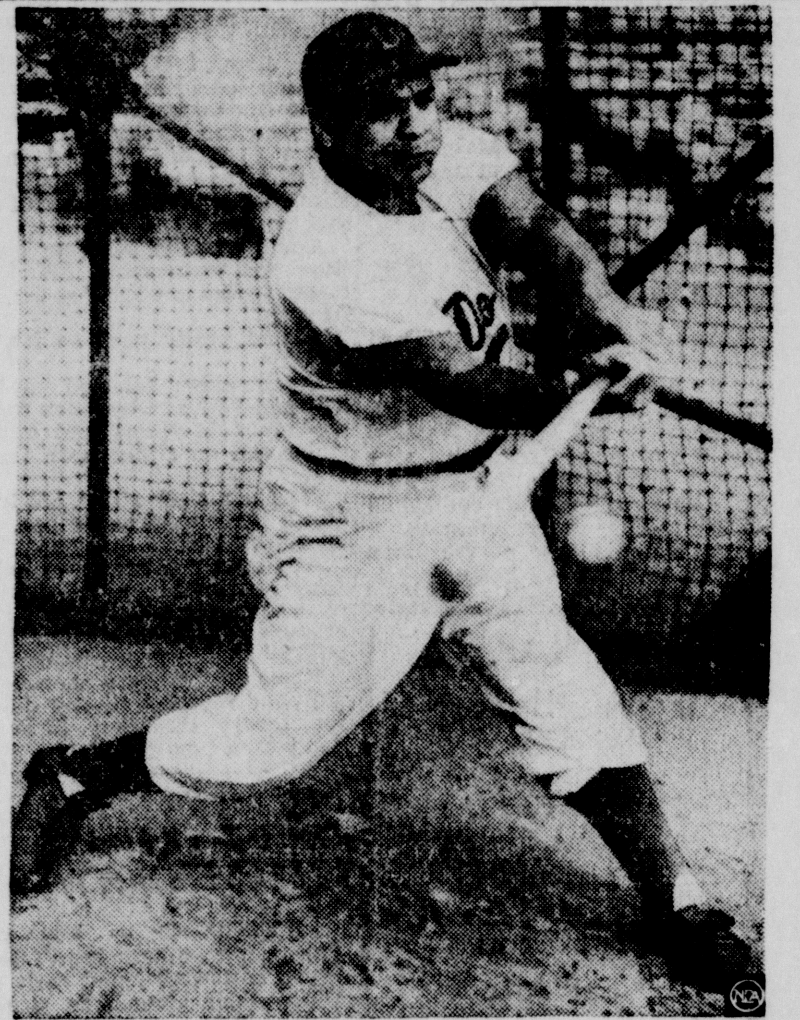

Henderson scored again in the seventh with a walk and a hit to tie the count after the Stars had picked up one run in the sixth on an error, a stolen base and a hit.

The Stars scored the final winning run in the bottom of the

Eucharistic Congress Opens Tonight At Rio De Janeiro; 18 Cardinals Present

RIO DE JANEIRO (U.P.) — The enthronement of Benedetto A. Cardinal Masella, personal representative of Pope Pius XII, and all other cardinals on the monumental altar marks the solemn beginning tonight of the 38th International Eucharistic Congress.

The installation of the cardinals on their individual thrones, one of the highlights of the week-long congress, will be followed by the delivery by boat of the Blessed Sacrament.

The sacrament will be brought across Guanabara Bay in a torchlight procession and enshrined on the altar in Congress Square.

Annoyed Mailman Sprains Ankle While Chasing Dog

BETHALTO, Ill. (U.P.) — Mailman Jim Riggs nursed a sprained ankle today and was ready to revise the adage about a dog being man's best friend.

It was a dog, a pesky yipper who snapped at his heels, which literally put Riggs "in the hole."

Annoyed beyond endurance the other day, Riggs raised his 15-pound mailsack and gave chase. He was gaining, too, but he was too intent on the pursuit to notice a hole in the ground. He went down and the sack swiped him on the back of the head, knocking him out.

When he came to, 30 minutes later, he had the sprained ankle. The dog was gone.

Eisenhower Buys Toys for Grandchildren

GENEVA (U.P.) — President Eisenhower became the center of a minor mob scene in downtown Geneva today when he went shopping for toys for his three grandchildren.

Mr. Eisenhower faced a moment of temporary embarrassment, after making his selection, when he discovered he had no Swiss currency.

He asked the shopkeeper if he might buy on credit.

The shopkeeper charged the purchases, gladly.

Mr. Eisenhower sped into Geneva from his suburban villa at Crueset-Genthod for a conference at the American delegation headquarters in the Hotel du Rhone before attending the afternoon's summit meeting.

He stopped off at a small toy shop on the banks of the swirling green Rhone River in mid-Geneva to "shop for my kids."

The President stopped in the midst of the crowd on leaving and shook hands with a number of well-wishers.

Asked how the Big Four conference was progressing, Mr. Eisenhower smiled and said "so far, very friendly."

"I feel pretty good so far," he added.

The President selected one large doll and two smaller ones for the two granddaughters and a white glider and an alpine horn for the boy.

A woman clerk attempted to sell him a small gold music box. But he said he already had one.

At first Mr. Eisenhower said "I don't see anything the right age for my kids." But the awed clerks remedied that. He spotted the toy glider hanging from the ceiling.

When clerks began showing him dolls, he rejected all boy dolls on the theory that "my little girls don't want boy dolls."

The dead were Harold Buchmeier, 20, Crete; Fred Arbuthnot, 17, Chicago Heights; Richard McReynolds, 17, Crete; and Frank Scharland, South Chicago Heights.

Ray Hickman, Crete policeman, said he saw the car speeding through downtown Steger and chased them with a squad car but slowed because of the fog. He said he car was going 80 miles an hour or faster.

A mile from where he slowed, the car struck the train. The crash derailed one freight car.

Former Grand Opera Star Dies at 95

BUENOS AIRES (U.P.) — Mary Melsa, former grand opera star, was buried at Chacarita Cemetery Monday. She died Sunday at the age of 95. Miss Melsa sang for the Paris opera and during world war years appeared in leading roles with Enrico Caruso and Tita Ruffo.

Heiress Sues Magazine

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (U.P.) — Tobacco heiress Doris Duke, one of the world's richest women, accused Confidential Magazine in a three million dollar suit of depicting her "as carrying on a relationship" with a member of a non-caucasian race. The Superior Court suit was filed Monday by Attorney Jerry Giesler.

No Aggressive War By U.S.: Eisenhower

European security. Disarmament. Development of East-West contacts.

The decision to give top billing to German reunification was a concession by the Soviets, who had wanted to consider first the issue of European security. And it represented a substantial strategic victory for the Western Big Three, all of whom had the German question first on their lists.

Monday night, President Eisenhower played host to the Soviet delegation at a champagne supper in his villa.

The President gave Marshal Georgi Zhukov, the Soviet defense minister, wedding presents for his daughter. They were a small portable American radio and a marble pen and ink stand inscribed from Mr. Eisenhower.

Zhukov passed up his daughter's wedding to renew his friendship with the President at the present conference. They first met as occupation commanders in Berlin after World War II.

The dinner gave the Americans a chance to sound out the Russians on serious matters, but it went off in convivial fashion.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov swapped jokes and champagne toasts.

Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin sat in the place of honor on Mr. Eisenhower's right and Soviet Communist Party Chief Nikita Khrushchev on the left.

Ike Gives Toast

After dinner, the President toasted Soviet President Kliment Voroshilov, nominal head of state. Bulganin responded, expressing hope the present conference would succeed.

Molotov saluted Dulles in another round of toasts, with the U. S. secretary of state responding in a humorous vein.

Since it also was the birthday of Deputy Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko he, too, came in for a round of toasts.

In addition, there were toasts to peace, to good fellowship and to the leaders of all the nation's representatives at the summit parley.

The dinner was a staff affair because the Russians did not bring their wives to Geneva.

Congressmen Show Optimism on Developments at Geneva Conference

WASHINGTON (U.P.) — Congressmen keeping a long-distance watch on developments at Geneva were generally optimistic today over the Big Four meeting's opening tones of cooperation. But some frowned critically at Soviet Russia's opening proposal for European security.

Sen. John J. Sparkman (D-Ala.), a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said Soviet Prime Minister Nikolai Bulganin's proposal for liquidating the North Atlantic Treaty Organization is "impossible for us to agree to" without some kind of workable arms control plan for Europe.

Sen. Homer E. Capehart (R-Ind.), another committee member, said

"I'm not in favor of liquidating NATO." But he said he did not think the Russian proposal "closes the door" to possible progress at the Big Four talks.

Most Senators Optimistic

Congressional leaders expected to get their first report on developments today from Vice President Richard M. Nixon. It was agreed at a White House meeting last week that congressional leaders would receive special progress reports on the Geneva talks.

Many senators voiced optimism about prospects for success at Geneva in light of the opening statements by the "Big Four." There was strong praise for President Eisenhower's eight-point program. And some were especially interested in British Prime Minister Anthony Eden's arms control plan for Europe.

Chairman Walter F. George (D-Ga.) of the Senate Foreign Relations group said that "as a first step," Eden's plan "might well be kept under consideration." He said that "once there can be an agreement, even general, some progress may be possible."

"Nothing New" On NATO

Sen. J. William Fulbright (D-Ark.), a member of the committee, said there is "nothing new" about the Russian desire to "eliminate NATO." But he said the proposal should not be the "precondition for further attempts" by the Western powers toward progress at Geneva.

Mother of Four Children Kills Mate's Girl Friend

WASHINGTON (U.P.) — An attractive blonde mother of four children forced her husband at gunpoint into the apartment of his girl friend early today and fatally shot the 19-year-old girl, police reported.

Held for a coroner's inquest was Mrs. Catherine Ann Haynes, 28, who was arrested shortly after the "triangle" shooting.

The victim was Nancy Penton, a shoemaker clerk, who died a few hours after being wounded in the left chest.

Police Lt. Nunzio Bonaccorsy said Mrs. Haynes had waited for her husband, Willis Haynes, outside Miss Penton's rooming house. When Haynes came out and got into his car, his wife drew a .22 caliber pistol and forced him to re-enter Miss Penton's apartment, according to Bonaccorsy.

Four Killed, One By One, Trying To Save Boy, 10

ALEXANDRIA, La. (U.P.) — A 10-year-old boy told today of a freak accident in which his father, his sister, a friend and a passing motorist were killed one by one as they came to his assistance.

The boy, Willie L. Voorhies Jr., said his family had been visiting friends and were preparing to leave Monday night in the family automobile. Willie went first to the car and was stunned by an electric charge when he touched the metal body of the automobile.

Willie's father, Willie L. Voorhies Sr., 33, rushed to help him and was killed when he touched the car. Linda Carolyn Voorhies, 6, a sister of the injured boy, touched the car and she too was killed.

The next victim was William L. Brassette, 31, at whose home the Voorhies had been visiting.

A passing motorist, Y. E. Tillman Jr., 32, stopped to investigate, touched the car, and was killed also.

Police said a 110-volt electric line was knocked down during a rainstorm and fell on the automobile charging it with current.

Willie Voorhies, the sole survivor of the tragedy, was taken to Baptist hospital. Attendants said he had suffered burns but was in good condition.

The geographical center of the United States is near Lebanon, Kan.
